Continuous Bomber Alert Ordered Cut

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has ordered a reduction in the continuous airborne alert of B52 bombers, it was disclosed today.

Reports Mao Recuperating From Heart Ill

HONG KONG (AP)—A former Communist newspaper was quoted today as saying Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung is recuperating from a heart condition complicated by high blood pressure but soon may be able to reappear in public.

The reputable non-Communist New Life Evening Post, which carried the story, did not identify its source by name but described him as a "reliable journalist."

Mao, according to the Post's report, "is now resting under strict doctors' supervision in Kuling, a summer resort area near Lushan, in Kiangsi Province."

He was reported on a rigid diet and under doctor's orders forbidding virtually all activity. But the report said Mao appeared to be making a steady recovery and "could make a public appearance at any moment—at least not later than October this year."

Loan Shark Victim Sobs Out Her Fears

CHICAGO (AP)—"What will you do when they find our bodies in the river?" the wife of a loan shark victim sobbed. "My life is in jeopardy. My boys' lives are in danger," Mrs. Dorothy Franchina, 31, said Thursday.

The widow of Anthony Franchina, 39, told a coroner's jury how her husband had shot himself Tuesday night.

Franchina, an epileptic who weighed only 100 pounds at death, had made $75 a week, she said. But he had been paying $20 to $40 a week in so-called juice loan payments on a $400 loan.

Earlier, Franchina had said he paid $1,000 in interest but still owed the principal. He was beaten severely when he fell behind in payments, she said.

Mrs. Franchina said they had argued after Franchina learned she had lost her job as a waitress. "My husband was in bed," she testified. "He asked me if I loved him. I told him 'yes.' Then I went into the kitchen. When I returned to the bedroom he was lying there holding a pistol to his chest. Then it went off."

"His last words were: 'Oh, Doll. Help me! Help me! I didn't want this to happen.'"

Juice loans are made by members of the Chicago crime syndicate with exorbitant rates of interest. Persons who get behind are sometimes tortured, or killed.

The coroner's jury ruled that Franchina's death was "suicide while under a despondent frame of mind."

Cabbies Often Serve As Unpaid Detectives

By HAL COOPER

NEW YORK (AP)—Taxicab drivers in major American cities serve as a little-known, unpaid detective force on the alert against crime around the clock, a survey indicated today.

Spokesmen for taxicab companies expressed some surprise at a congressional resolution by Rep. Richard C. White, D-Tex., urging the enlistment of taxi drivers and dispatchers in the fight against lawbreakers.

O.W. Wilson, superintendent of the Chicago police department, said hundreds of drivers with radio-telephone equipment have taken part during the past two years in a campaign called "Operation Crime Stop."

The Chicago drivers report not only crimes but road accidents.

Maj. Forrest Garrison of the Kansas City, Mo., police staff services division said a program enlisted cabbies and truck drivers in anticrime activities has been in effect since 1964.

"It looks like the federal government is far behind as far as we are concerned," he said. He

He told the House Appropriations Committee the constant bomber alert aloft, conducted for more than five years, no longer is needed because:

—The U.S. radar warning system is good enough to get the bomber force off the ground before enemy missiles can destroy the aircraft.

Of the declining importance of bombers in relation to missiles.

No indication of the extent of the reduction was available. McNamara's testimony, given in secret earlier this year, seemed certain to arouse new criticism from advocates of the bomber and from those who question reliance on missiles.

The defense secretary's published words gave the impression that the airborne alert will be ended entirely.

But the Defense Department said this is not so—that there will continue to be an airborne alert, although reduced in size.

McNamara indicated the Joint Chiefs of Staff opposed his cutdown move.

"I think the chiefs objected to eliminating all of the air alert," the Pentagon chief said. He added:

"I replied that they could carry on whatever airborne alert was consistent with the regular training program and would not require additional funds."

Defense sources said a portion of the bomber force will remain ready to take up a broader airborne alert, if this becomes necessary in an emergency.

They also said that 50 percent of the fleet of about 600 B52 bombers will continue to be held on strict alert, ready to take off on 15 minutes' warning. This is well within the maximum 30 minutes of warning that radar installations could provide in event of a Soviet intercontinental ballistic missile assault.

The airborne alert was put into effect in January 1961. This was the time when concern over a possible Russian missile attack was running high.

At that point, U.S. strategic nuclear striking strength was bound up almost wholly in the bomber force. And the radar warning system was not as highly developed as it is now.

In those days, the United States had only half a dozen intercontinental missiles and three Polaris missile-firing submarines in commission.

But now this country has about 900 intercontinental ballistic missiles in firing position, all of them in protected underground launch sites. It also has 36 Polaris subs in commission, mounting a total of more than 575 missiles capable of striking at Russia or Red China from beneath the sea.

PUPIL COLLAPSES, DIES RUNNING DASH

BELLWOOD, Ill. (AP)—Eugene Kwilinski, 13, a seventh-grader, collapsed and died at Roosevelt Junior High School Thursday while running the 50-yard dash.

Doctors at Westlake Hospital worked for 1½ hours in a vain attempt to revive the boy.

Survivors include his father, Eugene, 37, of Broadview, a suburb west of Chicago, and his mother, Shirley.

said he was sending Rep. White a letter outlining the Kansas City operation, which includes direct telephone links to advise taxicab, trucking and public utility companies of crime alerts.

"We've been helping the police right along," said Tom Rickhard, secretary-treasurer of a Detroit cab company. "It works both ways—the police help us and we help them. If our drivers see anything suspicious they grab their radio mikes and report it."

Capt. Frank Dyson of the Dallas, Tex., police department said "some of our cases have stood up in court only because of a (taxi) driver's report and later testimony."

Rex Taylor, president of a cab company operating in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Oakland, Calif., said:

"I don't see where we need a new law. Everything is fine as it is. Cab drivers are very cooperative in aiding police in the prevention of crime. It might help if we had a stronger law against holding up cab drivers."

Says Marines Would Like To Repair Discards

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate investigator said today the Marines "would love to get their hands on" discarded military equipment that has been turned over to the U.S. foreign aid agency.

Joseph Lippman said the Marine Corps would repair the military backup supplies—Jeeps, bulldozers, cranes and the like—and use them in South Viet Nam.

Lippman, chief investigator for the Senate subcommittee on foreign aid expenditures, said the equipment is rejected by other services as too costly to repair, and turned over to the Agency for International Development to be given away.

The subcommittee renewed, under Pentagon fire, its inquiry into military discards.

Lippman testified the Army sent three supply teams from Viet Nam to Japan in an effort to reclaim supplies that had been given to ATD. He said the first mission succeeded but later efforts failed because the AID agency said the equipment involved had already been earmarked for shipment to foreign governments.

The session is not yet at the half-way mark, according to the congressional adjournment timetable.

In some of the budget-busting moves, the few leaders in the campaign to slash federal spending have gone along with the increases. In others they have offered only token opposition in the face of certain defeat.

The House started off the week's spending spree by passing without an audible dissenting vote a $2.95 billion higher education bill which rejected the President's plan to save about $160 million by shifting much of the student loan financing from public to private lenders. The authorization bill still must be considered by the Senate and financed later.

The House followed that action Thursday by sending to the Senate a bill to appropriate $10.5 billion to finance the Labor Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for the year starting July 1.

The bill included $489.2 million more than the President sought, much of the extra money being for payments to school districts in an estimated 350 congressional districts. The budget-cutters tried to reduce the school payments by $232.8 million but lost by a standing vote of 132 to 25.

Off the floor of Congress, the House Armed Services Committee added about $1.5 billion to the annual military procurement bill which must be financed in a later measure.

The increase over authorization requested by the President was $931 million for procurement, about $420 million for military pay hikes and an estimated $116 million for medical care for dependents of military personnel. Johnson did not include the latter two programs in his budget.

The Senate also passed a military procurement bill last week, but that measure called for only $243.1 million more than the President requested. There was no opposition on the voice vote.

Earlier last week the House sent to the Senate the annual Agriculture Department appropriation bill providing $128 million more than the President requested. Much of the increase was for such popular programs as free milk for children and free or cut-rate school lunches.

Even Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio, top Republican on the Appropriations Committee and titular leader of the GOP economy drive, opposed an amendment to cut the bill's spending by 5 per cent.

About the only bright spot in the budget picture from the President's point of view was a cut of $305 million recommended by the House Appropriations Committee Thursday in the annual independent offices money bill.

But the President may not approve of all the reductions, since they would terminate his rent subsidy program and end the Mohole Project to plumb the depths of the earth beneath the sea.

Earlier, Congress had enacted legislation adding an estimated $90 million to the cost of the Social Security program, setting up a new GI benefits program costing $260 million more than was budgeted and hiking by $41 million emergency payments to school districts. A House-passed bill now in a Senate committee would add about $250 million more than the President planned for pay raises for federal civilian employees.

The cost of many of the bills already authorized could be scaled down when the actual appropriations are made—but the current outlook is that they won't be trimmed substantially.

There presently are 293 Democrats and 140 Republicans in the House with two seats vacant.

Budget Busting Solons May Pass Expectations

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's prediction that Congress might boost his budget to the tune of $3 billion appears conservative in the light of recent developments on Capitol Hill.

During the week ending today, Congress or its committees have approved legislation calling for outlays of around $2.15 billion more than the President requested for the fiscal year starting next July 1.

Over-all, the election-year Congress has tentatively added an estimated $2.8 billion to Johnson's requests since the session started in January. And the session is not yet at the half-way mark, according to the congressional adjournment timetable.

In some of the budget-busting moves, the few leaders in the campaign to slash federal spending have gone along with the increases. In others they have offered only token opposition in the face of certain defeat.

Candidate Puzzled By Shot

CHICAGO (AP)—Fred D. Hubbard, 36, political opponent of U.S. Rep. William L. Dawson, D-Ill., says he does not think the man who shot and wounded him Thursday was connected with Dawson.

"Even in the heat of this kind of political battle," Hubbard told newsmen at Michael Reese Hospital, where he was recovering in good condition, "I'm sure that the other forces would have nothing to do with a shooting."

"I don't know why anyone would want to kill me," he said. He suggested the gunman may have been a "psycho case."

Hubbard, a social worker, said a Negro gunman entered his office shortly after a campaign aide left to get coffee. Hubbard said he heard a noise, looked up and saw the silhouette of a man with a gun.

"I saw a gun in his hand, saw a flash and felt a stinging in my left shoulder," he said. He said he returned the fire with a gun he had taken from a juvenile gang member some time ago.

Hubbard is running against Dawson in the 1st Congressional District primary. Dawson has been termed the most powerful Negro in United States politics.

Dawson, 78, who is seeking his 13th term in Congress, said in Washington, "This incident is most regrettable." He offered a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the gunman.

Entertainer Dick Gregory announced plans to offer a $10,000 reward for conviction of Hubbard's assailant.

Hubbard, a social worker in the district's slum neighborhoods who has been aligned with programs of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., is backed by several civil rights groups in his campaign to unseat Dawson. He has said that Dawson is "out of touch with the Negro people" and "interested more in the Democratic machine than in his constituents."

Hubbard's schoolteacher wife, Arnette, announced she will continue the campaign until her husband recovers.

Both literally and figuratively, Saigon has become an American brothel, Fulbright said.

An outspoken critic of President Johnson's Viet Nam policies, the senator delivered his lecture a few hours after Goldwater, the Republicans' 1964 presidential candidate, denounced him for what he termed carping criticism "that lends aid and comfort to our enemies."

Goldwater told a conference of Republican women that Fulbright "could do no greater service for his nation and the American fighting men in Viet Nam, than to resign as foreign relations committee chairman."

Goldwater said he was ashamed of Fulbright "telling the American people that our power has made Americans arrogant, and self-righteous, and expansionist and immoral."

Fulbright also drew some fire from another Republican, Thomas E. Dewey.

Find Chemical That Regulates Body Growth

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—A group of University of California scientists has discovered the chemical makeup of a complicated body fluid that regulates body growth in humans.

The fluid, known as the Human Growth Hormone (HGH), was analyzed at the hormone research laboratory in Berkeley.

Since 1956 it has been used in the treatment of dwarfism.

The chemical structure of the hormone was disclosed in a report written for the journal of the American Chemical Society.

The authors are Drs. C. H. Li, director of the lab; Wan-Kyng Liu, now with the Children's Cancer Research Foundation at Harvard Medical Center; and Jonathan S. Dixon, an assistant research biochemist.

The hormone is secreted by the pea-sized pituitary gland at the base of the brain.

Beside stimulating growth, the hormone assists in the formation of breasts and milk production, causes the release of fats and increases the effect of both male and female sex hormones.

A spokesman at the university said the hormone is the largest molecule that has been completely analyzed chemically. Dr. Li said it is a double loop formed by 188 units of various amino acids.

said Tom Morrill, a spokesman for the firm.

Insurers, in fact, are concerned that the auto safety hearings in Washington may put too much emphasis on engineering and let the driver "blame Detroit."

Most of the large companies see little chance that introduction of a "safe car" would immediately alter premiums.

In fact, an official for the Aetna Insurance and Casualty Co., Hartford, Conn., said that "additional fees" are the "trend." Asked if his firm might offer discount insurance for "safe car" owners, he replied, "I doubt it—it would be pretty hard to measure."

State Farm, on the other hand, said it would have to take a look at the car before deciding whether to offer a premium discount.

The Insurance Institute in New York said it could take as long as five years before any "accident experience" for so-called "safe" cars could be accumulated. Some insurers said it would take a decade before such cars would make an appreciable difference in accident statistics.

Padded dashboards, collapsible steering wheels, harnesses and other safety features may go a long way toward reducing the results of what attorneys call the "second accident"—the injuries inflicted "after the car has hit the pole."

"Of course, our rates will reflect any decrease of injuries in this area," another insurer said. "But these hearings must not divert attention from the driver and law enforcement—the key elements in highway safety."

Fulbright Calls Saigon 'An American Brothel'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ignoring Barry Goldwater's demand that he step down as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Sen. J. W. Fulbright has challenged new controversy by calling Saigon "an American brothel."

The outspoken Arkansas senator said what is happening to the capital of South Viet Nam is the result of the "fatal impact" that a rich strong civilization—"even when acting with the best of intentions"—can have on a poor weak one.

Fulbright, concluding Thursday night his series of lectures at Johns Hopkins University's School of Advanced International Studies, said published reports of the impact of Americans and American money on Saigon show:

— "That many Vietnamese find it necessary to put their wives or daughters to work as bar girls or to peddle them to American soldiers as mistresses;

— "That it is not unusual to hear a report that a Vietnamese soldier has committed suicide out of shame because his wife has been working as a bar girl;

— "That as a result of the American influx, bar girls, prostitutes, pimps, bar owners and taxi drivers have risen to the higher levels of the economic pyramid;

— "That middle class Vietnamese families have difficulties renting homes because Americans have driven up the rent beyond their reach and some Vietnamese families have actually been evicted from houses and apartments by landlords who prefer to rent to the affluent Americans."

Both literally and figuratively, Saigon has become an American brothel, Fulbright said.

An outspoken critic of President Johnson's Viet Nam policies, the senator delivered his lecture a few hours after Goldwater, the Republicans' 1964 presidential candidate, denounced him for what he termed carping criticism "that lends aid and comfort to our enemies."

Goldwater told a conference of Republican women that Fulbright "could do no greater service for his nation and the American fighting men in Viet Nam, than to resign as foreign relations committee chairman."

KINDNESS PAYS
NEW YORK (AP)—An elevator operator who showed "kindness, friendship and loyalty" to an elderly Manhattan woman is more than $250,000 richer today, according to a will filed for probate.

Ella Veronica King, who died last March 24 at 85, left the bulk of her estimated $300,000 estate to Christopher T. Kenny, of Teaneck, N.J., who operated the elevator in the building in which she lived.

Kenny said he was stunned at the news, but didn't think there would be a major change in his way of living.

141 Cong Killed In 24 Hours

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Fierce fighting raged today in central Viet Nam as American air cavalrymen closed in on a trapped Communist battalion.

A U.S. spokesman said 141 Viet Cong had been killed in 24 hours, 30 captured and 307 suspects rounded up.

The U.S. command said elements of the 1st Air Cavalry, Airmobile Division, exchanged heavy fire throughout the day with about 300 Viet Cong troops and that at last reports the action—called Operation Davy Crockett—was continuing.

The battle—largest ground fighting in recent weeks—erupted Thursday about 10 miles north of Bong Son, near the China Sea and about 280 miles northeast of Saigon.

In the air war, the U.S. command announced the loss of two Navy planes Thursday in addition to an Air Force plane announced earlier. Two of the pilots parachuted safely to the ground but heavy antiaircraft fire drove off rescue helicopters. The third pilot ejected into the Gulf of Tonkin and was rescued by a seaplane.

A total of 231 planes now have been reported lost over the North.

The raiders came within 15 miles of Hanoi Thursday, a spokesman said, and attacked a road segment northeast of the North Vietnamese capital. Only once before in the war have American planes come that close to Hanoi. That was on April 17, when Air Force planes pounded missile sites 15 and 17 miles south and southwest of the capital.

The spokesman said Air Force and Navy planes flew a total of 48 missions in the North Thursday after a two-day lull due to bad weather. They also hit trucks 20 miles from Hanoi, railroad yards 35 miles north of it, and communication targets north of Dien Bien Phu and Dong Hoi.

The Strategic Air Command's B52 Stratofortress came in from Guam today to attack the Communist C zone near the Cambodian frontier for the eighth time in nine days. The U. S. 1st Infantry Division continued Operation Birmingham in the area some 75 miles northwest of Saigon.

U. S. fighter-bombers flew 313 sorties against suspected Communist targets in South Viet Nam Thursday with the airman reporting many buildings destroyed or damaged, eight sampans demolished and seven Viet Cong killed.

Not Enough To Do

Observers of law-breaking and misbehavior by teen-agers have long been aware that such conduct is hard to deal with because it has a certain attractiveness for the young. This view has gained new support from Dr. Murray Blimes of the New York School of Psychiatry. He believes that the glamor of wickedness and danger is cultivated by teen-agers, at least to some extent, to avoid feelings of shame and inadequacy. This is one of the main barriers to stemming juvenile delinquency. The more we publicize it, and fight against it, the more appealing it becomes to some young people.

One reason for the great success of the Peace Corps, Dr. Blimes told a conference in San Francisco, is that it provides a "moral equivalent" of delinquency. It offers the desired elements of adventure, thrills, courage and prestige which, in a twisted way, delinquency also offers.

The psychiatrist might have added that the ancestor of today's delinquent could satisfy his yearning for action without resorting to car theft, stick-ups and vandalism. Fish, ducks, rabbits and the like were nearer at hand.

There were trails that beckoned. There was wood to chop and a cow to milk. Excess energy could be readily expended, and lust for adventure easily satisfied.

Under those conditions, not all teen-agers were angels. Even then, some were frustrated and ran afoul of the law. But few developed feelings of inadequacy or shame because they had too little to do. Which may be a clue to effective action against juvenile delinquency in our time.

Income And Outgo

Calorie counting has come to be accepted as synonymous with doing something about overweight. It fills the bill pretty well. But the method can be a lot more effective if the calories are counted both coming and going instead of merely coming.

This is not as mysterious as it sounds. All we have in mind is keeping tabs not only on the calorie intake, but on how many calories are burned up. Dieting that ignores the role of exercise does only half the job.

The calorie counter, typically, goes about with a little book of calorie tables: so many in a soft boiled egg, so many in a slice of bread, and so forth. The book is consulted often during the day, and heroic dieters turn down many a goodie after the day's quota of calories has been reached. But some knowledge of how many calories are consumed — by an hour's walking or swimming, say — also is important. The balance between caloric intake and outgo is the thing.

Dear Ann:

Carries Discipline Too Far

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Our son is three years old and I am worried about him. When Kurt was born his father made it plain that he was going to raise his son to be a man and not a pansy. My husband feels that boys should not be cuddled or kissed or shown any affection. When Kurt falls down and cries my husband ignores him and makes me do the same. Even when the child is sick I am not permitted to rock him.

Last week Kurt had a cold but his father insisted that I give him a cold bath as usual and hot pamper him. He got a chill and his cold very nearly developed into pneumonia.

I believe in discipline but I think my husband is carrying things too far. Kurt stutters when he speaks to his father and I am sure he is terrified of him. My husband reads your column and agrees with some of the things you say. It would help a great deal if you published my letter and gave us your opinion. —KURT'S MOTHER

Dear Mother: Ask your doctor to talk to your husband at once. If something isn't done to change your husband's thinking, you are going to have a seriously disturbed boy on your hands.

"Every" child needs affection. Cuddling and gentleness does not make boys queer. Harshness, rigidity and an absence of father love can drive male children to identify with their mothers—and "his" can cause homosexuality.

Dear Ann Landers: Since that letter from your daughter Margo appeared, (she disagreed with your stand on sitters) I'll bet you've had all the sitters letters, pro and con, that you care to see for the next 100 years. I do hope you will print just one more, however.

My girl friend Gloria and I both sit for women in the neighborhood. Gloria grew up here and she knows more people than I do. On two occasions last winter Gloria called me and asked if I wanted to sit for a couple of women who were in a spot. They had called her but she was booked. I was free and said, "Yes, thanks a lot."

Well, both women liked me and said I got along with their children better than anyone they had ever hired. They called me back regularly after that. Now Gloria is mad because she says I "stole her jobs." Do you feel I should have turned the ladies down? —SHORT ONE FRIEND

Dear Short: Well — here we go again? I do "not" feel that you should have turned the ladies down, but it would have been a good idea to suggest that they call Gloria and give her first call on the subsequent jobs. Having done that you would have discharged your responsibility to Gloria.

Washington How to Dampen Dynamite For Civil Rights Session?

By BRUCE BISSAT

Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Administration officials are working hard to prevent the June White House Conference on Civil Rights from being turned into the kind of discordant shouting match that developed from a recent major poverty meeting here.

Frustrated poor folk, supported in some measure by confirmed agitators, burst that meeting wide open and drove to cover poverty chief Sargent Shriver, Jack Conway of the AFL-CIO, and Bayard Rustin, a liberal civil rights leader who suddenly took on a conservative hue.

The explosion had the force of a bomb in post-Easter Washington. Inevitably, civil rights conference planners showed immediate, deep concern that the important June parley not be marred or wrecked by a similar shattering burst.

Two groups of local civil rights militants already have announced their intent to picket the conference.

Of more concern to the planners, however, is how to keep professional irresponsibles out of the conference itself, while welcoming warmly a broad spectrum of civil rights participants ranging from conservatives to radical militants and from top leaders to the grass-roots poor.

A vice chairman of the conference council, Rev. Walter Fauntroy, himself only recently detached from a militant boycotting effort by Washington Negroes, is touring the country to help planners choose civil rights participants.

One of the harder advance tasks conference officials face is to persuade prospective Negro participants at all levels that the June meeting is to be no ordinary civil rights talkfest.

For one thing, its aim is a program of action, not statements of principles or guidelines. By its own gauge, it will be adjudged a failure if it does not produce an impressive flock of concrete proposals on ways to provide better schools, housing and jobs for Negroes at a pace far faster than now.

Secondly, the White House conference is beamed at the whole American community. It seeks to enlist not just government and civil rights forces but business, labor and professional people as well. The make-up of the conference council (the planning unit) reflects this intent.

Thus far this broad-based approach is working well. In fact, four or five top businessmen on the council have been much more faithful in attending council sessions than all but one veteran civil rights leader. And they have been useful.

The crucial points in this broadened effort are, first, to ram home the idea that the Negroes' difficulties are everybody's problem and, second, to convince the Negroes themselves that they can and must look not just to government but to the entire white establishment for support.

Vital as these propositions are, not only to the success of the June conference but also to a new and fruitful upturn in the civil rights movement, they will not appeal automatically to the more fiery militants.

Some of these talked at last

November's planning parley as if civil rights conferences should be limited to Negroes. Moreover, their thundering utterances sounded like a declaration of war against the white community, including long-friendly liberals.

As a good many Democratic politicians are discovering, these Negro militants and their restless grass-roots supporters are edgier than ever. Hence the White House conference looms now as possibly a great turning — either toward constructive white-and-Negro assault on deepest problems or toward wider and more bitter Negro frustration, alienation and Watts-style warfare.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — If Americans consider the Vietnamese a little confused, with their anti-one another scuffling in the midst of war, some of the things going on here must look a little mixed up to the Vietnamese.

For months they've heard President Johnson's Viet Nam policy scolded in and out of Congress, with no one more than Sen. J. W. Fulbright doing the berating.

This Arkansas Democrat is chairman of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee and "arrogant" has become one of his favorite words to describe U.S. foreign policy.

Through it all, Johnson has maintained a starchy silence, more or less, never tangling head-on with Fulbright although this week at a White House reception he tried to be humorous indirectly.

He did it not with a speech but with a note which, he said, his cook wrote. Fulbright and his wife were there and Johnson told Fulbright:

If there's any arrogance of power in the White House it's in the kitchen. He pulled a penciled note out of his pocket, the one he said was written by his cook, Zephyr Wright.

The cook told her boss, Johnson, that she was going to be his boss for a while and ordered him to take off weight by eating the food she put in front of him.

This didn't discourage Fulbright, as he proved Thursday night in another attack. But, meanwhile, Johnson suddenly found a sturdy supporter against Fulbright in Barry Goldwater, whom Johnson defeated for the presidency in 1964.

Goldwater in a very blunt speech Thursday demanded that Fulbright resign as his committee's chairman. No American, Goldwater said, has the right to call the United States "immoral, imperialistic and arrogant."

This was turning the tables on Fulbright who, after the Republicans won control of Congress in the 1946 elections, suggested President Harry S. Truman follow the British parliamentary system and resign so a Republican could take over.

Truman ignored Fulbright's advice then, just as Fulbright most surely will ignore Goldwater's now.

But, having tried to massacre Fulbright, Goldwater then tried to take the skin off Johnson from a dozen different directions which ranged from criticizing his handling of the Vietnam war to criticizing his handling of problems at home.

Paying no attention to the take-charge cook in the White House or to Goldwater, either, Fulbright was at it again Thursday night in a 19-page speech in which he said the Vietnamese capital of Saigon has become an American brothel.

He said it was the result of the "fatal impact" of the "rich and the strong on the poor and the weak."

Doubting the ability of a strong nation to create stability in a small and chaotic Asian one, Fulbright resorted to a Chinese proverb to make his point: "In shallow waters dragons become the sport of the shrimps."

Then he outlined a policy of conciliation toward Red China but never got around to explaining what should be done if the Chinese ignore such efforts and insist on a Communist world.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Circulation Still Exists
Despite Air-Conditioning

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Q — Is it unhealthy to breathe the same air day in and day out in an air-conditioned building? Some people prefer window fans and others say the fans bring in dust and dampness. What do you think?

A — The large units that condition the air in big public buildings wash and filter the air before it is recirculated.

Some single-room air conditioners in homes may be adjusted to bring in or exclude outside air but in either case there is some circulation of air from the outside.

Window fans will bring in dust unless they are provided with filters and will bring in moisture if the outside air is damper than that on the inside, in which case a dehumidifier may be needed.

Q — I was in the hospital with what my doctor calls basilar vertebral insufficiency. What is this? The medicine he prescribed is Paveril. What is it for and are there any bad side effects?

A — Basilar-vertebral insufficiency refers to impairment of the circulation of the brain. The drug you are taking relaxes blood vessel spasm and is not habit-forming. In too large a dose it may cause nausea, dizziness, sweating and abdominal cramps.

Q — My husband, 49, has a calcium deposit on the left side of his brain. What caused it? Is it a form of cancer? Can it be cured?

A — The calcium deposit is probably in the blood vessels of the brain. This is a form of hardening of the arteries and is not related to cancer. For changes that have already taken place there is no cure. Your doctor will try to check the progress of this disease.

Q — Recent X-rays revealed that I have Paget's disease of my thigh bones. What is it and what is the treatment?

A — Paget's disease (osteitis deformans) is seen in persons who are over 40. In this disease there is first a softening, with some bowing, in the long bones of the leg and thigh followed by a hardening and thickening of the bones in their new shape. In the early stages the affected bones are painful.

Aspirin and small doses of sodium fluoride will relieve the pain and the latter drug combined with vitamin C and milk or other sources of calcium will prevent further development of the disease. The victim should not stop walking even though his bones ache because the exercise improves the circulation in the bones and helps to keep them in good condition.

We, the Women A Very Important Day

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One of the magazines recently had an article telling women how to forget their birthdays.

It's my guess there isn't a woman around anywhere from 2 to 102 who wants her birthday to be forgotten.

Until a girl reaches 25 she not only wants her birthday remembered, she doesn't mind telling anyone which birthday she is celebrating.

After 25 women do clam up about just which birthday it is that has come around again. But even so, the birthday itself is still an important day.

On her birthday a woman basks in getting cards, letters and gifts from all who remember it is her special day — and the more the better.

Having others remember the date of her birth makes a woman feel warm and cherished. And if she has children who bring her breakfast in bed on her birthday, and a husband who takes her out to dinner at some place that is a special treat, and someone to bake her a birthday cake, with fewer candles than it should have, it is sure to be a wonderful day.

True, she is one year older. But even that doesn't get most women down — unless the birthday marks one of those 10-year milestones that women feel they have to shudder at — the 30th that takes them out of the twenties forever, the 40th that marks the approach of middle age, the 50th that means middle age must be faced, and so on.

But how much drearier even those milestone birthdays would be if nobody made a fuss over them, if they went unmarked and unnoticed.

Any poor forgetful husband who has ever let his wife's birthday pass without even a box from the florist will certainly vouch for the fact that no matter what a woman might claim, no woman wants her birthday forgotten.

American Menu Different Dish

There doesn't always have to be "a chicken in the pot" for Sunday. Or a roasted meat or a turkey. Try something totally different for a change — something good, of course, but out of the old familiar groove. Variety spices the appetite, remember.

Fresh Broccoli And Ham Divan (Serves 6)

1 large bunch (about 2 lbs.) fresh broccoli
1 inch boiling water in saucepan
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups diced cooked ham
Mustard-Cheese Sauce
1 cup soft bread cubes
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
Wash and trim broccoli. Cut large stalks in halves or quarters. Place in a saucepan with boiling water and salt. Cover and parboil until about half done, lifting the lid once or twice. Arrange ½ of the broccoli in the bottom of a 10x6x2-inch baking dish. Cover with a layer of cooked ham and then with Mustard-Cheese Sauce. Sprinkle with bread cubes blended with the melted butter or margarine. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes. Remove from oven and garnish with remaining cooked broccoli.

Mustard-Cheese Sauce
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 ½ tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
¼ teaspoon powdered mustard
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground black pepper
½ cup shredded sharp American or Cheddar cheese

Melt butter or margarine in saucepan. Blend in flour until smooth. Add milk and seasonings and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add cheese and stir until melted.

Winchester City Employees Rehired For Year

By Naomi Lawson
(Winchester Correspondent)
(Telephone 742-3490)

WINCHESTER — The Winchester City Council, meeting Wednesday evening, considered plans for the new fiscal year.

The annual appropriation ordinance was adopted and city personnel were rehired for the coming year. Returned to their respective posts were: Ed Haggard, utilities superintendent; police chief Carl Anders; fire chief Harry Turney; city collector Mary Hanks and her assistant, Katherine Carter; Buell Patterson, water superintendent and the cemetery sexton, Foy Pence.

Reappointed to the library board for three-year terms were Mrs. Paul Markille, Mrs. Earle Black and Mrs. Loretta Glossop.

Marian Lair, named to the swimming pool board of directors, joins S. R. Faris and Richard Mann, who were reappointed for a year.

The council accepted Mrs. Nancy Hainsworth's resignation as a member of the park board.

The annual report of the swimming pool board was presented by R. R. Funk, who reported a general balance of $363.41 with $2,000 in a savings account. Mr. Funk told councilmen that 21,395 swimmers took advantage of pool facilities last year. The largest attendance figure for a single day's operation was 551. The pool was closed due to weather on ten occasions.

The Chicago Bridge and Iron company has been hired to inspect the old water tower to determine whether repairs are necessary.

The council negotiated a new lease for a city dump on property owned by Luella Gregory and Otto Walker. The lease, good for a three-year period, involves property a quarter of a mile north of Bloomfield cemetery.

Poverty Committee OKs Grant Request; 3 Members Resign

Mustering enough membership for the first time in three months, the Pike and Morgan county poverty committee meeting Thursday night approved a request for a federal survey grant, and accepted resignations from three members.

The 36-54 Economic Opportunity Inc. also adopted a change in the by-laws which will enable it to hold formal meetings with either 13 or 25 per cent of the 50-man committee present.

Meeting in Pittsfield, the committee also formally okayed a $10,000 grant request for a Head Start program in the District No. 117 school district.

Resignations were accepted from Darrow Steinheimer, secretary, and members Delores Brown and Harvey Jarvis from Morgan county.

Steinheimer said a lack of interest in the program prompted his resignation.

Thursday, 30 members attended the meeting.

During the past three months the organization has been unable to function for lack of a quorum. Chairman Byron Holkenbrink has operated the committee through the use of mailed questionnaires.

Holkenbrink said he received 37 yes votes and one no vote on the subject of a request for a grant for the Head Start program.

2nd Program Here
If the grant is approved, it will be the second such program for the school system in two years. Last year, one program was held at Jefferson school on a $1564 grant, and included 15 pre-kindergarten children.

School officials have promoted the program, proclaiming its merit.

Will Davis, technical adviser from the Office of Economic Opportunity, Springfield, was on hand to explain the steps necessary for a survey grant to the committee.

Prior to the grant application, a project study committee, composed of six persons, including William Cole, Ivan Garrison and Betty Houston will examine areas of need and report to the newly appointed board of directors. The life of the projects will then be left to the decision of the directors, who, if the projects are approved, will forward the project study and funds needed application to the Chicago office of OEO.

Seek $40,000
A spokesman for the Jacksonville Day Care Center requested the committee to consider a $40,000 request from the Day Care center board for the operation of the project.

The Day Care Center will be located in the low-rent housing development on East Walnut street.

Several members voiced dissenting opinions on the merit of approving a $40,000 grant for the Day Care Center without first investigating other areas of need for the county.

The committee approved a request from the Pike county delegation for a Head Start program grant, which would establish nine centers throughout the county, including 162 children at an estimated cost of $28,000.

E. C. Audenka from Jacksonville raised the question of whether the organization might not have more successful meetings of the meeting night was changed.

Following discussion, it was approved that the new meeting night would be the second Thursday of the month, and the next one would be held at the Morgan county courthouse.

Present officers of the organization will remain in their respective positions until the June 9 meeting.

"FAMILY WEEK" SERVICES SET AT LOCAL CHURCH
The congregation of the First Church of God will observe "Family Week" May 8 through 15 with a special Mothers' Day sermon planned by Reverend Perry Hensley, pastor of the church. New babies will be dedicated during the Sunday service.

Special talks will be presented by Terry Peters, Terry Thady, Linda Logan, Roy Fluckey and Jack Stonehouse during the Sunday evening service.

On May 15, music will be provided by Reverend James Noble and family of Salem. Two films, one of interest to teenagers, the other for adults, will be shown that evening.

The public is welcome.

Music, Air Show To Highlight Scott Open House

It will be music, music, music, almost all day at Scott Air Force Base on Saturday, May 21.

The occasion is Armed Forces Day open house, and three bands thus far have "signed up" to play for the crowds. The Belleville Township High School Band, the Mascoutah High School Band, and the Military Airlift Command Concert Band have prepared stirring marches, specially-arranged "pop" tunes and intricate concert pieces, according to Col. Felix G. Brenner, who is in charge of Armed Forces Day. Band concerts are but a part of the day's festivities, Col. Brenner said. Scott's gates will be thrown open at 8 a.m. and the public will view exhibits, demonstrations and displays of all of the nation's armed forces at 10 a.m.

A three-hour air show is scheduled to begin at 1:45 p.m. with aerial acrobatics, helicopter demonstrations and parachute jumps. Acrobatics by sailplanes will also be featured. The Air Force and Navy will provide precision flying exhibitions by jet aircraft and the entire air show will be interspersed with drill team exhibitions, firefighting demonstrations and other attractions.

Our artist is not experimenting with his brush! There is a profound difference between these two days...

MOTHER'S Day — with the accent on Mother — is the second Sunday in May, when we honor Motherhood, and express our deep affection for Mother. Mother's DAY — with the accent on Day — is every day of the year. It is Mother's unending labor of love. It is Monday's wash and Tuesday's ironing, the meals to be cooked and the beds to be made, the bruises to be healed and the prayers to be heard.

And at the close of her DAY, Mother has prayers of her own — for her little-ones, her husband and herself.

God is answering many of those prayers through the Church. With its effective program of religious education and worship the Church can supply the spiritual needs in Mother's DAY... and in your DAY also!

Ex-Wrestler Leaps Across Movie Film Toward Great Pot Of Gold

By B.S.V. RAO
BOMBAY, India (AP) — A 235-pound ex-wrestler is bounding across Indian movie screens in various stages of dress and undress toward a great pot of gold.

We extend an invitation to our friends and former customers to come in and see us.

He is Dara Singh, who gave up head-knocking in the ring to play a bare-chested Tarzan, Samson, Hercules and all-round strong man in scores of Indian films.

Aside from drawing about 50 worshipful fan letters daily, Singh reportedly pulls down a minimum of $20,000 for each movie — a fabulous sum in India.

It's an especially attractive life for Singh, 36, who used to make a meager living grunting and growling with sweaty opponents in wrestling arenas from New York to Tokyo.

Singh is a 6-foot-2 Sikh. The Sikhs are a religious group famed for turning out big men who wear full beards and turbans. Many make the army their career.

Singh, however, turned to wrestling and won his first match as a teen-ager — and was paid the grand sum of four annas — about 5 U.S. cents.

Like all orthodox Sikh men, Singh wore a full beard and flowing hair.

A Singapore opponent, however, was annoyed at having to paw through all that hair so he refused to wrestle unless Singh shaved and trimmed. It was his first haircut and Singh later remarked: "I felt quite awkward that day with my cranium all shining."

Filmdom was the next step. Many wrestlers get acting experience in the ring, and Singh said he wasn't camera shy at the start of his acting career.

Singh now is featured in Hindu mythological — sure hits in India.

Singh, who is married, complains other members of the film colony snub him as a "mere wrestler."

Whereupon, he buys another piece of land in his home state or maybe another Bombay apartment house. That apparently makes him feel better.

Beardstown's Annual Budget Set At $334,930

BEARDSTOWN—The annual city budget will be set at $334,930 according to the report of the city treasurer before the Tuesday meeting of the city council.

Reports from other offices were read, including the details on parking meter collections which were down $1,124 over last year. Total collected was $13,835, with expenses from the fund $4,072.

Engineers reported on work on the sewage disposal plant and stated Sanky Brothers have nearly finished on the outfall sewer job; Freesen Brothers will begin Friday or Monday on sealing the system lagoons with asphalt. It is believed this work can be finished in 3 to 4 weeks, if weather conditions are favorable.

A report from Schmitt Memorial hospital showed receipts exceeded expenditures by $1,152 during the past month.

Trailer Permits
Three more trailer permits were requested and the city council has referred them to the committee on building and grounds, with other requests for buildings.

The number of trailers in the city has zoomed in the past 6 months.

Tax Bills Mailed
County Treasurer A. C. (Todd) Schuettler says he has completed the mailing of approximately 11,000 tax bills in the county, including 4,000 to Beardstown residents.

Total taxes to be collected, he announced, is $1,907,436.10. The bills brought bad news to many taxpayers in the way of higher assessments.

Wanted! Dog Catcher
City officials say they have had an increasing number of complaints about dogs running at large.

Gardeners and flower growers are the chief complainants. The city council now is trying to employ a dog catcher but thus far has had no luck.

RICHARD GILLER LIONS PRESIDENT AT CARROLLTON

CARROLLTON—Richard Giller was elected president of the Carrollton Lions club at the annual election of officers held in connection with a dinner meeting of the club Tuesday evening at Day's Colonial Room. Giller succeeds David Becker as president.

Other officers elected were: Arnold Hyde, first vice president; Francis Geers, second vice president; Neil Carrico, third vice president; Joe Gooddey, treasurer; and Clarence Horn, secretary. Ray Hopkins and Ray Roll were elected directors for one year and David Becker and Gilbert Jeffrey for a two year period. The other officers of the club are appointed and all will be installed at the June meeting.

MOVE PLANT TO MADISON
MIDLAND, Mich. (AP)—Dow Chemical Co. said Thursday it would close an aluminum rolling mill at Jackson employing 36 hourly workers, moving its operation to a plant in Madison, Ill.

Dow said only that the transfer will be "in the near future." It added negotiations are underway with possible buyers of the Jackson, Mich. facility. Dow said it planned to keep the plant open until change of ownership.

One-Fourth of Mankind

I have never seen a document which contains so much nonsense.
—K'ang Hsi on the Bull Ex illa die

The first armed clash between the Ch'ing (Manchu) dynasty and the Russians, who were penetrating and colonizing northern Manchuria, took place in 1652. Repulsed at first, the Chinese later scored successes.

In 1689, the Treaty of Nerchinsk was signed, ending a quarter century of undeclared war. It was to hold Russia at bay for 169 years.

Acting as interpreters during the negotiations were missionaries of the Society of Jesus, who were among the few foreigners Chinese admired. The Jesuits had arrived in China during the Ming and, accomplished Renaissance men, soon made themselves useful.

Jesuit-made cannon served the Ming against the Manchus; Joannes Schall devised a cal-

(16) Christ vs. Confucius

by Don Oakley and John Lane

endar for the Manchus; Ferdinand Verbiest built an observatory.

Most famous of these men was Matteo Ricci, who came to Peking in 1601. Realizing that the only hope of converting China to Christianity was to win over her leaders, he mastered the language and dressed in mandarin garb.

Wisely, Ricci drew a map showing China in the center of the world. Wisely, too, he and his successors attempted to accommodate the ancestor worship of Confucianism within Christianity. They were bitterly opposed by the rival Franciscans and Dominicans, who considered such practices idolatry.

A long-continuing dispute—the "Rites Controversy"—over this question and over the meaning of the Chinese word T'ien, or Heaven, was finally settled by Pope Clement XI in 1715, who issued a papal bull ruling against the Jesuits.

This outraged the brilliant Emperor K'ang Hsi in two sensitive areas—his authority in his own realm and his Confucianism.

"I have concluded that the Westerners are small indeed," said the man who had granted an edict of toleration to the Christians in 1692. "From now on Westerners should not be allowed to preach in China, so there will be no trouble."

Yet even before the papal ban on Confucianism (which was not lifted until 1939), Christianity had made little progress in China. The literati were interested in the Westerners' science, not their theology, and the Jesuits had never been able to explain a logical connection between the two.

Later, when Christianity was backed up by guns, this disdain turned to hatred.

At Illinois Power Company

it's our business to serve you better

when you build a new plant — or a new home

A company planning a multi-million dollar plant or newlyweds planning a modest bungalow are both important customers at Illinois Power. Here's how we try to serve both—better.

Illinois Power's Industrial Development specialists help find good locations for factories and offices. And our Industrial Development group is always at work to stimulate healthy business growth in the communities we serve.

And that young couple buying their first home gets a valuable service from Illinois Power, too. Our Medallion Home Program is their assurance that their new home is built to the highest electrical standards.

Industrial Development and Medallion Home programs are just two of many services available at no extra cost to Illinois Power customers.

No customer will ever be too big for our capacity to serve... nor too small for us to care about.

America's Oldest Student

Ex-Slave Lets 'Light God Gave' Her 'Shine'

By JAY BOWLES

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — "This little light God gave me — I'm going to let it shine." The words are those of Mrs. Mary Walker, whose light has been shining since 1849, more or less, when she was born a slave in Bullock County, Ala.

Today, or sometime this spring, "Mother Walker" will be 117 years old. The exact age is a moot point, and not very important anyway.

What is important is that "Mother Walker" will have a citywide birthday party Friday, at which she will officially be certified as America's oldest student. A representative of U.S. Commissioner of Education Harold Howe will do the honors. No records were kept back when Mrs. Walker was born, or when she was raised by a white family in Montgomery, Ala. But she soon married and "went to farming" with her new husband. Then came a date she does remember.

"I was 20 on the 26th of August, a Sunday, 1869," she says with a smile. "I remember that date because that was when my first son was born."

The son — the first of three, all now dead — died three years ago at age 94.

About one year after his death, Mrs. Walker came down from her third-floor apartment in a modern high-rise apartment project to sit in on a class sponsored by the Chattanooga area literacy movement, an organization formed and supported by nongovernment funds. "I decided I'd better do something," she says. "I didn't know anything."

Since that time, says teacher Helen Kelley, she has progressed as well or better than most of the other 19 members of her class — the youngest member of which is 60.

"She is ahead of some of them, way ahead," says Mrs. Kelley.

The class deals with the fundamentals — reading, writing and arithmetic. Since September 1964, Mrs. Walker has learned to read, write script and add and subtract.

Mrs. Walker, who still walks unaided, sees well with the aid of bifocal glasses. She hears without trouble, sews and cooks cakes "light as feather," according to Mrs. Kelley.

GEMINI-9

A chase of another satellite, a record spacewalk and the first practical test of space rescue techniques are in the Gemini-9 flight plan of astronauts Thomas Stafford and Eugene Cernan. It starts off as a repeat of the Gemini-8 flight, cut short in March. Again, an Agena target vehicle (1) is scheduled to blast off first. If all goes well, the Gemini launch (2) will come one hour, 39 minutes and nine seconds later. The timetable calls for rendezvous and linkup (3) with the Agena on the third orbit, four to five hours after launch—cutting at least an hour off the linkup time of Gemini-8. Then begins a series of experiments to add a significant new chapter to space flight history before splashdown in the Atlantic recovery area 345 miles east of Cape Kennedy, 45 orbits and three days after launching.

Cernan: Two-hour, 25-minute spacewalk; meteorite collection experiments on Gemini adapter and Agena.

Stafford: Undocks, moves off 120 feet from Agena. Cernan: Crosses to Agena on 125-foot tether.

Cernan: Hovers motionless 30 feet from the capsule. Stafford: Maneuvers toward him for "Rescue."

Both: Docking, separation practice. Agena: Power started, stopped several times, maneuvered into parking orbit to await use as target on later Gemini mission.

was led from dummy. This time, South played his nine and West had to take his king. A second diamond went to dummy's king and South was able to get to his hand with the jack of spades, in order to lead and ruff his last club. This made six tricks. He had taken two spades, two diamonds and one club and one club ruff. He led dummy's ace of spades and East had no way to keep South from making two of the last three tricks. Quite a series of plays by South. However, West must be given some credit for making the play possible. Had he opened his ace and king of trumps and then shifted to a low club, South would have had no way to keep East from getting in to lead a third trump and the contract could not have been made.

LBJ SEEKS GREATER EFFORT VS. CRIME

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has ordered a redoubled federal effort "to uproot the menace of organized crime from our society."

He described the power of organized crime in America today as "nothing less than a guerrilla war against our society."

Flanked Thursday by Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and other federal officials involved in the war against the criminal empire, Johnson gave the attorney general the responsibility of directing the battle.

He addressed his remarks to newsmen at the White House after an hour-long meeting with the government officials.

He ordered each investigative unit in the government to review carefully its crime programs, reporting in detail to the attorney general and suggesting new areas of investigation.

Strong Ohio Conservative Wins GOP Nod

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Republican voters in Ohio's 24th District have chosen a 35-year-old man of parts — Donald E. (Buz) Lukens — as their nominee for U.S. representative in the November election.

Lukens is both a member of the gentle Quaker faith and an expert in the karate art of bare-handed mayhem.

As president of the national Young Republicans he roused controversy with his militant espousal of Barry Goldwater for the 1964 presidential nomination long before Goldwater's victory at the national convention.

Lukens has advocated such causes as U.S. withdrawal from the United Nations and the infiltration of newspaper staffs by young Republican journalists "to insure adequate and accurate reporting."

He has been a drugstore clerk, a dancing instructor, a waiter, a cook and a teacher in a nondenominational Sunday School in Tokyo.

On Feb. 1, Lukens quit his job as a management consultant to run for Congress. In the primary Tuesday he defeated two other Republican aspirants. His Democratic opponent in November

Polly's Pointers Wool Can Work Wonders
By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR POLLY—My neighbor had to go to the hospital for quite a stay before having an operation. I was at a loss for a way to cheer her up until I remembered her once saying she would love to have an afghan but felt the cost of the wool was more than she should afford.
I bought one pretty hank of wool, a crochet needle the proper size and a book of patterns and took them when I first visited her at the hospital. She was delighted, so I spread the word among her neighbors and friends and others started taking wool when they visited her. If the colors were not right I exchanged them for her.

When my friend finally left the hospital her afghan was almost finished and she has enough wool to finish the job during her convalescence at home. The doctor thought this was wonderful therapy. —MRS. J. L. S.
DEAR POLLY—When baby-sitting with my little grandson, who was learning to walk, I always worried for fear he might fall and hurt himself as he liked to go around the glass-topped coffee table. I put a rubber-backed rug over the table and let it hang over the sharp edges. This was just the right height for him so he could continue his walking around it with less worry on my part. I put his toys on the rug and they did not slide off as they did on the glass top. It also kept the top from being broken by a bang with a toy. Every time I keep my grandson I cover the table top with the rug and have no worry about him hurting himself on the sharp edges. —MRS. H. L. N.
DEAR POLLY—If storage space is a problem and drawer space for baby's clothes is at a premium, put his socks in a brandy snifter or apothecary jar. Place this on top of the chest and it will be easy to reach and also look attractive. A shoe bag with pockets makes an excellent and convenient place for baby's powder, lotion and so on when fastened to the back of the bedroom door. This is also good for the family brushes and combs in the bathroom. There it could be tied to a towel rack. A coat hanger inside might work better than ties when used in some places. —MRS. M. P.
Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY—Would any of the girls know how to remove detergent stains from my electric dishwasher? I have tried everything I can think of and nothing has worked. —MARGE

SALEM AID GROUP INVITED TO LWM JUNE CONVENTION
Mrs. P. J. Davidsmeyer, president, conducted a recent meeting of the Salem Ladies Aid group. Members of the group have been invited to attend the Lutheran Women's Missionary League Convention in Effingham June 2.

A report on the Easter party conducted by the Ladies Aid in cooperation with the volunteer services department at Jacksonville State Hospital was read. A dinner for students from Illinois Braille and Sight Saving School was served April 17. Plans for taking the students to a spring concert in Springfield were made.
Topic leaders during the study session based on the topic "Preparing For Your Ministry," were Mrs. Leland Perbix, Mrs. Harold Tomhave, Mrs. Herbert Rose, Mrs. Roy Lovekamp and Mrs. George Oberate.

Boyle's Guidebook For Losers

EDITOR'S NOTE — Hal Boyle told earlier how to tell whether you are forging ahead in life's rat race. Today he presents the other half of the picture — a guidebook for losers.

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Are you losing in the rat race of living? One would think there wouldn't be much doubt in one's mind about that, but there is.

Many a fellow with a mouth full of gravel kicked up by guys ahead of him still labors under the delusion he is gaining when, as a matter of fact, he has already been lapped twice and is falling steadily farther behind the other runners. Here is a helpful guide list to tip you off as to whether you have fallen behind the rest of the pack. You'd better start brushing up on your Horatio Alger if —

Your wife is taking in laundry so your daughter can afford to attend ballet or karate classes. The guy next door asks for his lawnmower back the day after he lends it to you.

The collars on more than half your shirts are frayed. When you give a panhandling bum two bits, he feels so sorry for you he hands you back 15 cents change.

The fenders of your car are so dented that rainwater collects in them in pools. You have more photos of your family in your wallet than credit cards.

When you tell the office supply clerk that the cushion on your swivel chair is shabby, he replies, "So what? I'm busy."

The boss crisply calls you by your last name, because he never can remember your first name.

At a cocktail party, the other guests keep holding their empty glasses out to you, because they mistake you for the waiter.

At your bank, the teller won't even let you deposit your paycheck until you give proper identification.

You haven't had a merit raise since you last wore a Vote for Tom Dewey campaign button.

You get a wonderful idea on how your firm can make more money, but you drop it shyly into the suggestion box because you don't feel you know one of the top executives well enough to take it to him personally.

When you get back from a vacation, nobody asks you where you've been.

You'd like to take up golf, but whom would you play with? When you look up and call out brightly, "Who's for lunch?" only echo answers.

Even your pet dog turns a deaf ear when you attempt to explain your solution of our problem in Viet Nam.

Brother, if these things describe you, you aren't just a loser. You are so low on the totem pole you're a stick-in-the-mud.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — To tax or not to tax is the question now openly splitting the ranks of the official chartists of the nation's monetary, fiscal and economic policies.

The ultimate policy maker, President Johnson, is holding a wait-and-see course. He wants to know for sure that inflationary dangers are growing so fast that only an increase in personal and corporate income taxes can cool down the booming economy.

But his closest advisers, both present and in the recent past, are splitting openly on whether a tax increase is needed — and when.

William McChesney Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, which shapes monetary policies, says "the only logical way" to deal with inflation is a "simple, clean-cut, across-the-board increase in taxes."

Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, says the question can be held up for a while to see if monetary and fiscal restraints already prescribed will curb the inflationary trend. Ackley also firmly supports the President's policy of using persuasion on business and labor leaders to get them to hold down on price and wage increases.

Henry H. Fowler, secretary of the Treasury, warns that a tax increase now might be effective only late in the year when the economic pace could be weakening of itself. Such a tax boost could turn the economy into a downward spin next year and do harm rather than good. Instead, Fowler urges bankers to help curb inflation by weeding out "the speculative loans."

But Walter Heller, who was chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, before Ackley took over, says this is the time to increase taxes. He contends that inflation must be halted now before it can send the economy into a boom that could lead only to a bust.

Heller was the architect of the U.S. fiscal policy, which has now come to be known as the New Economics. He advised spending measures that would increase employment even though the federal budget would continue to operate in the red. One of his proposals was the cut in personal and corporate income taxes that helped send the economy on the upsurge that is now bothering the monetary and fiscal managers.

President Johnson has called a panel of top business and labor officials to come up with plans for maintaining prosperity while achieving economic stability. His revived Labor-Management Advisory Committee is being asked to give its views on tax and monetary policies.

The battle also is spreading to Congress. House members who want to raise appropriations for educational and welfare projects are being warned that this might trigger a tax increase demand. But many of them doubt this, saying that the real threat of higher taxes lies in the chance of a sharp increase in spending for the Viet Nam War.

Labor Statistics, said the figures showed continued strength in the economy and the most significant point was the long-term improvement in the past year. Unemployment dropped in that period from 4.8 per cent.

Both the rise in total employment, and the drop in unemployment to a total of 2.8 million, exceeded seasonal expectations.

The bureau adjusts the figures on the basis of normal seasonal trends. The unadjusted jobless rate in April was the same as the adjusted rate of 3.7 per cent.

Although Goldstein said the pickup in employment, mostly in manufacturing, created further pressures toward labor shortages, he added "there are still labor sources to be tapped."

Some economists are concerned that job shortages tend to bid up wages, adding to the threat of inflation which President Johnson has described as the chief domestic worry of the United States.

The unemployment rate for married men, the key breadwinner group which Goldstein described as "a very significant group in the labor force," edged down from 1.9 to 1.8 per cent the lowest since the bureau started keeping records in 1954.

They Knew They Would Die

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DA NANG, Viet Nam — (NEA) — Shortly before his unit was to launch a battlefield assault, Pfc. Hiram Strickland of Burlington, N.C., wrote a bizarre letter to his parents.

In it he prophesied his own death.

And, unfortunately, he was correct. Not long after, Strickland was killed in action.

Within a week of the tragedy, his mother and father received the correspondence. "I'm writing this letter as my last one," it read. "You've probably already received word that I'm dead."

Weird? Of course.

But coincidence? Perhaps not altogether.

Many men here hesitate to discount such occurrences lightly.

Call them premonitions or psychic phenomena, they are real enough in this war as to be not uncommon in many front-line units.

There was the 9th Regiment marine, for example. Upon completion of a 13-month tour in Viet Nam, he decided to extend his enlistment for another half year.

Those who knew him well asked why, of course, and he shrugged them off with talk of patriotism, duty, etc.

But then he began to act strangely, talked morbidly about his fate.

He even suggested one evening that he was about to die.

The following afternoon, his unit, was committed to action.

He was in the fight. Lying in a rice paddy, he wrapped his rifle sling around his arm for support and proceeded to pick off over a dozen enemy soldiers.

Then his luck ran out. A sniper's slug hit him. And, two days after his extension and his prediction, he was killed.

Tales of similar occurrences are not difficult to find. Every other GI has one that would raise the hair on a warlock's neck.

Sgt. John Payne of Tampa, Fla., for instance.

He knows a guy who predicted other people's deaths. The peculiar prophet, a young marine, confided on a number of occasions that he knew those in his outfit who were going to get hit.

"He was absolutely serious," Payne says.

And how could he tell?

"He said he saw it in their eyes."

It all sounds like so much psychic prattle. In fact, even the troopers talk about the subject with as much smirk as superstition.

fully confessing that many of their stories are based on off-hand remarks made in absolute jest by the principals.

However, other examples are not so easily explained.

And some clearly seem more prediction than pun.

Once, for instance, some marines were sitting in a hut in the center of a fierce battle. One of them was frightened, afraid of dying, and talking not optimistically of his chances.

"I'm afraid to go out," he said.

"Take it easy," others suggested.

"If I do, I'll get killed."

"Go 'wan."

There was a pause.

"But," the guy added, "if I get killed, I'll . . ."

"You'll what?"

"I'll come back to haunt you all."

The crack relaxed the soldier to smiles. He got up, ducked through the door, and beat it across the field. At that moment a bullet drilled into his mouth and killed him instantly.

Did the man prophesy his death? Was it clairvoyance or coincidence? Nobody who was with him is wont to say. Indeed, they don't even like to think about his final prediction.

Nor especially the second part of it.

"You've probably already received word that I'm dead."

POSSIBLE BEARISH DATA EASES GRAINS

CHICAGO (AP)—The possibility of a bearish private crop report caused a little selling pressure in the grain futures market today and all commodities were steady to easier.

The report was an estimate of wheat production and acreage to be planted to corn and soybeans this year. It was compiled by Conrad Leslie, statistician, and Lamson Bros. & Co., a brokerage firm.

Soybeans were down about 2 cents a bushel in spots before release of the report and wheat was down almost a cent at the extreme. Other grains were within minor fractions either way of previous closes.

Wheat was 1/4 to 1/2 cent a bushel lower, May $1.58 1/2; corn unchanged to 1/4 lower, May $1.26 1/2; oats 1/4 to 1/2 higher, May 68 1/2 cents; rye 1/4 to 1/2 higher, May $1.17 1/2; soybeans 1/4 to 1/2 lower, May $3.00.

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill. (AP)—Estimates for Monday: hogs 8,000; cattle 5,000; calves 100; sheep 300.

Hogs 4,500; barrows and gilts 190-260 lbs 23.00-24.75; sows 200-260 lbs 17.00-19.25.

Cattle 200; calves 50; cows 18.50-20.50; vealers good to choice 25.00-35.00.

Some Symptoms

Minor symptoms showed up only half as frequently in the drug-treated men. The most severe form of the illness — high fever — occurred only in those men not given the drug.

The doctors pointed out that viral respiratory infections are probably the most common illnesses in man and added: "Although some of these infections can be prevented by vaccines, no preventive or curative drug has yet been established. Antibiotics, in spite of their unique and specific antibacterial activities, are ineffective against viruses. This study is part of the search for drugs to combat the many viruses responsible for respiratory infections."

standard bearer in 1944 and 1948, said Fulbright "served the country very badly" by criticizing the administration's Viet Nam policies.

Fulbright has stressed what he sees as the danger of arrogance of power in his Johns Hopkins lectures and in other speeches. A week ago Fulbright declared that "America is showing some signs of that fatal presumption, that overextension of power and mission, which brought ruins to ancient Athens, to Napoleonic France and to Nazi Germany."

But Fulbright told his audience Thursday night, "I do not think for a moment that America, with its deeply rooted democratic traditions, is likely to embark upon a campaign to dominate the world in the manner of a Hitler or Napoleon."

"What I do fear is that it may be drifting into commitments which, though generous and benevolent in intent, are so universal as to exceed even America's great capabilities."

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market made a feeble attempt to recover and then was battered by another heavy wave of selling late this afternoon.

Here was the picture near the close:

Volume for the day was estimated at 12.3 million shares compared with 10.09 million Thursday.

Stocks declined from the start but losses were cut by mid-day and an increasing number of issues were showing gains. Losers still outnumbered gainers by about 3 to 1 when the recovery stalled—then selling increased as stocks sank to their lows of the day.

Another stiff loss in the making as IBM sank nearly 17 points. Zenith and Eastern Air Lines 3, Xerox 11, Polaroid 4 1/2, Texas Instruments 6 or more.

General Motors was down between 1 or 2 points, touching new lows.

Chicago & North Western converted a 3-point recovery into a loss exceeding a point. Other recoveries, by high-flying issues melted away.

Brokers said the fresh wave of selling arose from disappointment over failure of a rally to develop.

Sperry Rand very actively traded, was ahead for the position of most active stock, showing a loss of about a point.

Losses of a point or more by key stocks such as Union Carbide, Eastman Kodak, Air Reduction, New York Central, Goodyear and United Aircraft pulled the averages down to big losses. General Electric dropped more than 2.

Declines were held to fractions by American Telephone, U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Standard Oil (New Jersey), American Cyanamid and other market wheel

Mays Still Has Targets Ahead

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Willie Mays, who hit his first major league homer as a 19-year-old, smashed the National League career record 15 years later with his 512th and still has targets ahead.

Treasured Ball Goes To Work

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Henry Garmon took a baseball to work Thursday.

The 39-year-old player wasn't interested in a game of pitch. He just wanted to make sure that baseball didn't get out of his sight.

It's the baseball Willie Mays hit Wednesday night over the right-field fence at San Francisco's Candlestick Park for his 512th career home run, a National League record.

Behind that fence were two Garmon boys, Henry Jr. and Kenneth, 16. And, just in case the San Francisco Giant center fielder hit the record breaker to left field, Henry Sr. was there.

"I've been here last Wednesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday," young Henry Jr., boasted.

In fact, Candlestick Park was alive with repeaters, including a veritable army of television and newspaper cameramen, waiting for Mays to surpass a National League record set by the late Mel Ott in 1946.

Wednesday night on Mays' third time up, he ripped the first pitch of the Los Angeles Dodgers' Claude Osteen over the right-field fence.

Henry Jr. raised his battered glove among a sea of grasping hands. He didn't make the first contact. But opportunity made the right bounce for him.

"The first two times Willie came up, I got over toward the centerfield section," Hank said.

Recovered in Scramble

"When he hit his homer, I had gone over toward the right-field foul line. I was only 10 feet from it when it came over the fence. I didn't catch it. It bounced out of somebody's hands. In the scramble on the ground, I got it."

"When my brother and I ran as hard as we could to find the nearest policeman. I didn't want anybody to get it away from me."

The treasured trophy was wrapped in tissue paper when young Henry and his father went with it to visit Mays in the dressing room after the 6-1 defeat of the Dodgers.

The Giants were willing to pay $100 for the trophy.

But even before the Garmons arrived, Mays had word Garmon Sr. wanted a thousand dollars for it.

"A thousand dollars!" exclaimed the incredulous Mays. "If he wants a thousand dollars, he can keep the ball."

"No, that's wrong," the senior Garmon responded. "I never said I wanted a thousand dollars. But I think this ball is worth more than a hundred—a whole lot more."

Would Mays autograph it? "Certainly," the Say Hey Kid assured, borrowing a sports writer's pen to scrawl, "Best wishes, Willie Mays."

The San Francisco Giants center fielder tagged the first pitch from Los Angeles Dodgers left-hander Claude Osteen in the fifth inning Wednesday night and sent it over the right-field fence to end 10 days of frustration and mounting pressures.

That was his seventh homer of 511 set in 1946 and made Mays the greatest home-run hitter in the league's history two days before his 35th birthday.

Only three players have hit more, all in the American League — Ted Williams with 521, Jimmy Foxx with 534 and Babe Ruth at 714. If Willie passes Foxx — and he should — he'll become the greatest right-handed homer hitter in major league annals.

Pressure Eased

Mays watched the baseball clear the fence in Candlestick Park and could almost feel the pressures ease. The solo shot put the Giants ahead 5-1, and they went on to win 6-1.

"You have to have pressures when everybody is wondering when you'll hit that home run," Willie said later. "I've been a little excited and not hitting at all."

After collecting No. 511 in Houston on April 24, Mays' batting average dropped from .348 to .284, and he had only three hits in 23 plate appearances.

Osteen put him down twice swinging before Willie finally connected.

"I would like to concentrate now on my batting average," Mays asserted. "But I'm not going to stop swinging. I have to be more relaxed now, but if I ever come close to another record, I guess it'll be the same again."

Osteen said he threw Mays a change-up up and over the plate. "It was a bad pitch, and the minute I threw it, I knew it was going out. That was just where he likes the ball to be."

"The last 10 days I've been trying for the home run to get this over," Willie declared. "Now I want to go back to playing ball."

Set Practice

The Jacksonville City Power baseball team, a member of the Little Eight League, will hold its first practice and try-out of the season this Sunday. The practice will be held at Nichols Park, starting at 4:00. The diamond will not be available until that time.

All those interested in playing on the team should be at the practice. A practice game with Florence will be staged the following Sunday. There is no age limit.

Brown 'Iron Man' As Ducks Win Pair

RUSHVILLE — Junior right hander Jon Brown hurled both ends of a doubleheader and used a hot bat to aid his own cause in both games, here Thursday afternoon, in pitching Havana to a sweep over Rushville.

Brown twirled a no-hitter in the opener as Havana won 11-0 in five innings. Brown fanned seven and didn't walk a batter. He used only 38 pitches in the victory. Brown homered with one on in the fourth and drove in two more with a single. John Lippert also slugged a two-run blast and Ken Beatty went two-for-three for the Ducks.

Brown whiffed six and gave up two walks in his five-hit nightcap a 12-4 margin. He also had a perfect three-for-three day at the plate, with two runs batted in on a double, triple and home run. George Shaw and Ed Newton had two hits in three trips for the winners, while Rodney Ball hammered two home runs for the losers, both with the bases empty.

Havana is now 5-0 on the season, with Brown owning all five wins. Rushville is winless in eight games.

Aaron Doubles In Winning Run For 4-3 Margin

ATLANTA (AP) — Hank Aaron drove home the winning run with a seventh-inning double, giving the Atlanta Braves a 4-3 victory over Philadelphia Thursday night.

Felipe Alou, whose single sent Denis Menke home with the tying marker during the two-run rally, broke the deadlock when he scored on Aaron's shot to deep left field.

Lee Thomas hit his sixth home run in the fourth inning and Joe Torre pounded out his seventh homer in the sixth for the Braves.

The Braves started third baseman Eddie Mathews again after benching the slumping veteran for one game, but he went hitless and was ejected for protesting a called third strike in the sixth.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Joey Jay, given home run support by Don Pavletich and Pete Rose, became the first Cincinnati pitcher to win two games this season as the Reds crushed Pittsburgh 10-6 Thursday night.

Pavletich put the Reds ahead to stay with a solo homer for a 4-3 lead in the third inning. Rose closed out the Reds' scoring with a three-run homer in the eighth. Leo Cardenas also drove in three runs for the Reds.

The victory, only the fifth in 18 starts for the Reds, snapped a three-game losing streak.

Jay withstood a three-run Pittsburgh first inning uprising as he was clipped for a solo homer by Roberto Clemente and a two-run blast by Jim Pagliaroni. He also was tagged for Jesse Gonder's pinch-hit homer in the ninth and needed one-out relief help from Bill McCool.

GRADE SCHOOL STYLE: Jonathan Turner's Frank Lawrence displays his winning style in the light-weight broad jump at the Grade School Track District Thursday afternoon. Lawrence won three events and ran on a winning relay team as Turner easily won both light and heavyweight divisions.

Turner Takes Both District Titles

Jonathan Turner made a run-away of both divisions in the District Grade school track meet, held Thursday afternoon at the JHS athletic field.

Triopia took second in both light and heavyweight classes, with Porta gaining both thirds and Ashland both fourths.

Scores in the lightweight class ran Turner 79, Triopia 28, Porta 23, Ashland 20, Versailles 18½, Kilbourne 9 and Versailles 2½.

The first and second place finishers in all events will advance to the Sectional, to be held at JHS this Saturday, beginning at 1:00. The Sectional will include winners and second place finishers from five Districts. Thirty-five schools will be involved. First and second place finishers there will advance to the state meet at Monmouth May 14.

Turner's Frank Lawrence was the star of the lightweight class, winning the 100 yard dash, the 120 yard low hurdles and the broad jump. Lawrence also ran on a winning relay team. Steve Coleman won the pole vault.

Bob Ware took the 220 yard dash and Ron Hopper claimed the high jump for other individual winners for Turner. Hopper also won a second in the 100 and a second in the 220.

Chris Nergenhah was Triopia's big man, winning the 50 yard dash and finishing second in the hurdles and the broad jump.

Roger Stewart, Roger Headen and Steve Waltrip were the big winners in the heavyweight class, all double victors. Stewart won the 440 yard dash and the 50 yard dash, Headen the hurdles and the 220, and Waltrip the broad jump and the pole vault, breaking Ron Coleman's school record with a leap of 10'. The old standard was 9'10". Stewart and Headen also ran on a winning relay outfit. Dave Dewese won three seconds and ran on a winning relay team for Turner.

Canadiens Take Second Title, 3-2

DETROIT (AP) — Henri Richard's goal in sudden-death overtime gave the Montreal Canadiens their second straight Stanley Cup championship Thursday night, with a 3-2 overtime victory over the Detroit Red Wings.

Richard pushed in the clinching goal at 2 minutes, 20 seconds of the overtime period, crashing into Detroit goalie Roger Crozier as he scored.

That clinched the best-of-7 National Hockey League playoff finals four games to two.

It also was Montreal's 12th Stanley Cup and seventh in the last 11 years.

In winning, the Canadiens became only the second team in the 40-year modern history of the cup to win it after losing the first two games of the final series.

It was the first time since 1954 that the Stanley Cup has been decided on an overtime score.

Richard's goal came on Montreal's second shot of the overtime period. Richard and teammates Dave Balon and Jean Guy Talbot led the charge at the Detroit net, and Richard steered the puck past Crozier.

Howser, Hinton Take Up Slack In 4-0 Tribe Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Howser and Chuck Hinton, replacements for the injured Larry Brown and Leon Wagner, knocked in the first two runs, and the league-leading Cleveland Indians went on to a 4-0 victory Thursday over the hungry New York Yankees.

Howser's deep fly to center in the seventh inning scored Fred Whitfield, the Yankee Killer, who opened with a triple. In the eighth inning, Vic Davalillo also led off with a triple, scoring on Hinton's sacrifice fly to right.

The victory gave the Indians a sweep of the Yankee Stadium series in which the Yankees scored only one run in three games. It was the 14th victory in 15 games for the Indians, who have beaten the Yankees five straight.

Lefty John O'Donoghue was the winning pitcher, limiting the New Yorkers to three hits before he was replaced after walking the first batter in the eighth. Bob Allen finished. The shutout gave the Cleveland staff a combined earned run average of 1.29.

Hinton played left field and Howser short, replacing Wagner and Brown, who were hospitalized after a collision in Wednesday night's game.

Wagner, who suffered a broken nose, was expected to rejoin the club soon. Brown may be out for the season. Two neurosurgeons were called in, but no operations were performed.

"Wagner didn't even want to stay in the hospital overnight," said Tebbetts. "He didn't even know he had been knocked out."

When interviewed in the Indians' clubhouse after the accident, Wagner said, "It was one of those plays that nobody could call. I saw Brownie. It didn't look to me like he could catch it so I put on a burst of speed. I thought he was just shaken up until I saw the blood in his mouth."

Injured Brown Was Key Player In Tribe Start

NEW YORK (AP) — "If we awarded any most valuable player awards on our team, we'd have to give it to Larry Brown."

Birdie Tebbetts, manager of the Cleveland Indians, sat in the clubhouse Thursday afternoon talking about his shortstop, who suffered multiple fractures of the skull, both eye sockets and nose in a collision with Leon Wagner Wednesday night in a game against the New York Yankees.

They collided while chasing Roger Maris' pop fly behind third base in shallow left field in the fourth inning. The Indians went on to win 2-1.

"Brownie has got the big hit in three of the last four games we have won," said Tebbetts. "And he helped us tie another You New Yorkers can spell only one name. W-h-i-t-e-e-i-d. But Brown really has been doing the job for us."

Stays At Hospital

Brown's wife flew in from Cleveland Thursday to be with her husband, and Tebbetts will stay over here until Friday although the Cleveland players left for Baltimore immediately after the Thursday afternoon game with the Yankees.

"I told Brownie what happened," said Tebbetts, who spent much of Wednesday night at the hospital. "He was in pain and kept saying that his head ached. I told him we had talked to his wife and that the doctors said everything was going to be all right."

Wagner, who suffered a broken nose, was expected to rejoin the club soon. Brown may be out for the season. Two neurosurgeons were called in, but no operations were performed.

Culver Blasts Blueboys, 15-1

Culver-Stockton pounded out ten hits and took advantage of ten walks and four errors by Illinois College to roll to a lopsided 15-1 baseball victory over the Blueboys, on the IC diamond Thursday afternoon.

The hosts were never in the game after Culver struck for four runs in the first inning and two more in the second. IC hurlers Pete Gallatin and Gordon Elmore, who relieved in the second, each walked five batters to add to the landslide.

Culver's Ward slammed a pair of two-run homers and Barhart added a pair of key doubles to lead the Wildcats' attack.

The lone run for Illinois College came when Larry Herrick pounded one over the fence in the sixth inning.

Wynn's Single Sparks Astros' 13 Inning Win

HOUSTON (AP) — Jim Wynn's two-out single in the 13th inning delivered Joe Morgan with the winning run Thursday night and gave the Houston Astros a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Morgan had singled with one out and moved to second on an infield out before Wynn's hit won the game.

Chicago's J.3 threatened in the top of the 13th with two runners being thrown out at home. Rusty Staub's throw from right field cut down Jim Stewart, who was attempting to score on Glenn Beckert's single. Then, later in the inning, Adolfo Phillips, who had stolen third, was caught trying to steal home.

The Cubs tied the game in the seventh when John Boccabella doubled following Ron Santo's two-bagger. Boccabella had produced the first Chicago runs with a fifth-inning homer.

Say Unification Attempts Caused Rail Merger Try

CHICAGO (AP) — Robert A. Lovett, executive committee chairman of the Union Pacific Railroad, testified Thursday his line's decision to seek a merger with the Rock Island Lines was prompted by unification attempts among Union Pacific's competitors.

Lovett said his line was "apprehensive" over the increasing number of railroad merger proposals in the West which, he said, threatened the Union Pacific's competitive situation.

The witness was on the stand for the second day at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing into Union Pacific's petition to merge with the Rock Island.

The merger is opposed by the Chicago and North Western Railway, which also seeks to acquire control of the Rock Island through stock ownership, with actual merger in the future.

Counsel for other western lines that also oppose the proposed merger with the Union Pacific questioned Lovett about his company's reasons for seeking unification of the two carriers.

The witness previously testified the merger is necessary to give Union Pacific direct entry to Chicago and St. Louis to set up a single line service between the Pacific Coast and these gateways to the East.

This would avoid the present system of interchanging freight with lines connecting Union Pacific terminals to lines operating east to Chicago and St. Louis.

Lovett mentioned nine proposed mergers among railroads serving the West which, he said, were prime considerations in the Union Pacific's move to seek a consolidation with the Chicago-based Rock Island.

Fowler Says Tax Hike Will Result If Needed

NEW YORK (AP) — Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler said Thursday the Johnson administration would resort to a tax increase only if it becomes apparent that one is needed to combat inflation.

He said the administration would act without hesitation if more restraint is needed on the nation's economy.

Fowler's speech to the ninth annual University of Connecticut Loeb Awards presentation luncheon was in effect an answer to William McCleskey Jr.

Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, called Wednesday night for a "simple, clean-cut, across-the-board increase in taxes."

Fowler declined to make any direct comment on Martin's proposal.

He referred all inquiries to his speech, which he said simply reviews the "pros and cons."

In the talk he said: "For the present, therefore—while the economy shows no definite pattern—it is essential that we remain within the bounds of the President's budget, and that we continue to keep a close and careful watch over all contingencies that might occur to require a tax increase."

The secretary said if the nation's economic growth shows definite signs of laying "the foundations for a strong inflationary spiral in 1967... a prudent and preventive tax increase this year would enhance our long-run growth prospects."

He also warned of the dangers of "overcure."

"Our effort was, and remains, to apply as much restraint as necessary—and no more," he said.

Claim Red China May Be Undergoing Crisis

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Red China may be experiencing its most serious political crisis since the Communist party took power on the mainland almost 17 years ago.

The trouble seems to involve China's monumental economic problems and whether total regimentation and long-term austerity are the only answers. It may reflect weariness in China with an economy of bare subsistence.

Near the top of the list of purge prospects in what Politburo propaganda calls a "struggle to the death" is an official who questioned total regimentation as the answer to all problems.

This man is Wu Han, historian and playwright, vice president of the Peking City Council—deputy mayor. He has served as a propagandist and as head of one of the innumerable "friendship" societies, this one involving "friendship" with neighboring Nepal, where China often exerts pressure.

Evidently, Wu once questioned the wisdom of the 1958 "great leap forward," and of the subsequent break with the Soviet Union. He is being denounced as one whose writing has a "black anti-Communist and antipeople thread." He is accused of spreading "poisonous influence, on achieving fame and glorifying the family, an expression of bourgeois individualism."

Wu Han is just a symbol, another form of warning. He committed his major sin five years ago and it is catching up with him. Back in 1961 he published a play about the Ming dynasty days. Critics have just discovered that he portrayed an imperial official not only as a human being but one who was decent and popular. According to the Politburo's doctrine, that was impossible.

Why bring it up now? Probably there is increasing official worry over internal affairs. The aging leaders also worry about the influx of younger blood into the leadership as their members pass away.

Five years ago, China was in a difficult period. The "people's communes" and "great leap" had been spectacular failures. The break with the Russians became so wide that Moscow cut off economic and military aid and withdrew Soviet technicians.

China held her own for several years. But now, suddenly, ideas such as those of Wu Han have, retroactively, become great sins. Throughout China there is an official hue and cry against him.

Election Dispute Forces Runoff In Selma Race

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Wilson Baker, seeking to unseat segregationist Sheriff James G. Clark, lost the potential winning votes in an election dispute Thursday and was forced into a runoff.

The Dallas County Democratic Executive Committee, throwing out six ballot boxes which had been challenged by Clark, ruled that the two men will have to run it off in a second primary May 31 for the party nomination.

The Justice Department immediately asked a federal court in Mobile to order Baker declared the winner by a majority which would eliminate the need for a runoff.

There were indications that Baker, Selma's former city public safety director, might go to court to challenge the committee decision, but the veteran law enforcement officer was not immediately available to confirm or deny the reports.

Committee Chairman Alston Keith said Baker was left with a slight lead over Clark and two other candidates after the six challenged boxes, containing 1,601 votes, were discarded.

Of the 1,601 votes, which came from predominantly Negro areas, more than 1,400 reportedly for Baker. That would

Name Hospitals OK For Medicare

CHICAGO (AP)—Nearly 1,000 hospitals in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin are eligible to participate in Medicare insofar as compliance with the 1964 Civil Rights Act is concerned, the government said Thursday.

Title VI of the act states: "No person in the United States shall, on the ground of race, color or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving federal financial assistance."

Melville H. Hosch, regional director of the U.S. Department of health, education and Welfare, said 995 hospitals in his five-state region have qualified on this point.

He said questionnaires were mailed to 1,288 hospitals and 187 have not yet replied. Incomplete questionnaires were returned by 128 hospitals which now are being visited by federal representatives.

In Illinois 320 hospitals were sent questionnaires and 238 were cleared; 42 did not reply and 40 gave incomplete replies. Corresponding figures for other states in the region are: Indiana 130, 118, 8, 4; Ohio 295, 219, 37, 39; Michigan 314, 220, 62 and 32; Wisconsin 229, 200, 18 and 11.

Of 94 hospitals in Chicago 58 replied to the questionnaire and 46 have been cleared, twelve are being visited for clarification and of these 12 five have been recommended for clearance. Questionnaires have not been returned by 36.

HOSPITAL BLAST INJURES THIRTEEN

CHICAGO (AP) — Thirteen hospital employees were injured Thursday when an explosion ripped apart a steam-generated sterilizer in the blood center of Michael Reese Hospital.

One person, Frank Noferi, 43, of Chicago, was hospitalized. The others were treated for burns and lacerations and released.

The blast sprayed heated serum and broken glass at the 15 persons who were in the room at the time.

The wall-mounted, five-foot sterilizer, called an autoclave, had been turned off shortly before the explosion, said Edward Conway, center supervisor. The door of the machine was open.

Noferi lives at 6928 N. Key-stone Ave. and Michael Reese is at 31st St and Ellis Ave.

have given him the nomination on the basis of returns from Tuesday's party primary, and no runoff would have been necessary.

The official vote was not announced immediately, but the complete unofficial tally, minus the disputed ballots, gave Baker 7,537 votes, Clark 7,445, Murphy Suther 695 and Virgil Bates 372.

Clark appealed to the Democratic committee Wednesday and counting of the ballots in the six boxes was delayed until the party officials could look into it. The vote count was resumed Wednesday night with the understanding that the committee would decide later whether there was any indication of irregularity.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said in Washington that the government suit, filed in U.S. District Court at Mobile, seeks to have the County Democratic Executive Committee count all 80 ballot boxes and declare Baker the winner by a majority of the vote.

The board's failure to make such a declaration, he said, deprives Dallas County voters of their rights, under the 1965 Voting Rights Act, to "have their votes counted and the results of the election declared in accordance with the votes as cast."

Jacksonville Courier, Jacksonville, Ill., May 6, 1966 11

The complaint said the board has no authority to withhold that declaration because of a challenge (Clark's) filed prior to the announcement of the winner.

It was explained at the Justice Department that Clark can challenge the results after they are announced and seek to upset them through court action.

Clark, in challenging the uncounted ballots, said he found indications that some of the boxes had been left unattended after the election was over.

DONATE LAND
HILLSBORO, Ill. (AP)—Sponsors of flood control projects along Shoal Creek said Thursday 65 Montgomery County landowners have donated property needed to widen the creek's main tributaries.

Officials said the donations and subsequent channel improvements should protect about 5,000 acres of farmland from annual flooding.

THIS IS HOW FOCUSED HEARING WORKS INSIDE THE EAR. THE SONOTONE HEARING AID SLIPS INTO THE EAR. THE FLEXIBLE CARTRIDGE ADJUSTS COMFORTABLY TO THE EAR CANAL, DIRECTING SOUNDS TO THE EARDRUM.

Sonotone's AMAZING NEW all-in-the-ear HEARING AID

Only seeing is believing with Sonotone's great hearing triumph—the smallest hearing aid we ever made—worn completely in your ear. It's our amazing new SONOTONE.

Come in, phone or write for FREE actual-size replica (non-operating). Find out for yourself how easy it is to wear the SONOTONE. This exciting aid, the smallest ever made by Sonotone to fit all into the ear, can help millions with new focused hearing inside the ear canal. You just slip it in and out of your ear. NO ATTACHMENTS OF ANY KIND OUTSIDE THE EAR.

From Sonotone—the trusted name in better hearing for over 35 years.

For the BEST in Hearing Aids and Hearing Aid SERVICE. Come to: SONOTONE HEARING AID CENTER. At: Dunlap Motor Inn—Jacksonville. On: Monday—May 9—1:00 to 5:00. (Home calls by request—please phone Motel).

DELMAR A. LYONS—Certified Sonotone Consultant. REPAIRS and fresh supplies for ALL MAKES. HEARING TESTS and Consultations. NOTE: SONOTONE OF SPRINGFIELD has been serving this area for almost TWENTY-FIVE YEARS.

Village Board Asks $92,250 State Aid For Water And Sewer

South Jacksonville's village board waded the water witching wand in the direction of the State of Illinois Thursday night for a $92,250 grant for their proposed water and sewer system.

Robert Russell, of Caldwell-Rhoads engineering company, presented three alternative plans each for the water distribution system, and a sewage treatment plant.

Maximum amount of cost involved was approximately $700,000 for the highest price system in each category.

Board President William Fanning promised village residents no increase in water and sewer rates.

The proposed financing of the system would be spread over a 40 year period, which Russell estimated, would see an increase of approximately 7,000 residents by the year 2010.

This, he stated, would also mean a forecasted increase from a present 773 water customers to 2,700 by the 21st century.

Presently the village has spent $3,213 for the drilling of nine test wells, which, according to Russell, will afford a 400 gallon per minute water supply indefinitely.

Three Ways To Water Explaining the three alternative plans for the water distribution system, he said the village could purchase treated water from Jacksonville for resale to its residents for approximately $100,000, purchase raw water from the city's Illinois river pipeline for $187,000 or develop their own source of water from wells for $340,000.

He almost virtually ruled out a system derived from surface water supply because of the physical make-up of the land surrounding the village.

He said that if the well plan was adopted, a water treatment plant and tank would probably be located near the intersection of Hardin and Greenwood.

Russell also pointed out that if raw water was purchased from the pipeline, it would still require a treatment plant.

Sewage Plans Plans and approximate cost of the sewage system included a contact aeration plant with treated discharge into Mauvasterre Creek for $270,000, another method suggested was the use of a contact aeration plant with treated effluent discharged into a branch of Sandy Creek, for $310,000; a third method, utilizing an oxidation pond for $335,000 including the cost of the land.

Russell said that the pond approach is relatively new, and has met with tremendous success. He explained it would probably require a surface area of 60 acres, dependent upon the growth of the village, with a 30 acre area put into operation immediately.

Sewage would be pumped to the pond, approximately three to five feet deep, where it would be treated by natural oxidation. He said there is no odor to the pond after it begins operation, and the area can be developed into an attractive site.

Similar To Cass Plant A similar type of operation is presently being built for the Oscar Mayer packing plant at Beardstown.

Russell explained that the $92,250 request for state assistance was for 30% of the cost of constructing treatment facilities excluding the cost of land.

He explained that there was no guarantee that the village would receive all, or part of their request, depending on the state's survey of the present situation.

Settle Awaiting Debate The controversial ailing debate was settled with a new ordinance, allowing residents to construct awnings or canopies on houses provided they are not enclosed, do not project out farther than eight feet from the foundation of the house, or are supported by posts greater than 18 inches in width.

The board also approved a change in the zoning ordinance at the request of Roy and Ethel Johnson.

Lots near the northeast corner of Vandalia and South Main have been changed from R-1, one family dwelling to R-3, two family dwelling.

Johnson has indicated his plans to construct a four unit apartment building, with room for expansion to a 12-unit building.

Following Russell's explanation of the water and sewer system plans, the board approved the extension of a four inch water line to five residences at South East and Greenwood.

Estimated cost to the village would be $930, and $75 to the individuals, without necessity of a special assessment.

The area is along the street presently being torn-up to allow for the street-paving and storm sewer project.

Fanning reminded the board of a special executive session next Thursday, following a meeting of the finance committee set for Monday night.

BORROWED TOOLS 'BORROWED' FRIDAY City police Friday morning opened an investigation into the case of the "borrowed tool box." Donald Hall of 906 Routh street reported that he borrowed a tool box containing an assortment of tools to repair his auto. The auto was repaired shortly after 8 o'clock Friday morning and he took the auto for a spin to determine the success of his do-it-yourself venture. Upon returning, the tool box, filled with tools, was reported "borrowed" again. This time by persons unknown.

Northwest Area Engineers May Join In Strike ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Heavy equipment operators in nine northwestern Illinois counties may join their counterparts in the northeast section of the state on the picket lines.

Some 250 members of Local 150, International Union of Operating Engineers, authorized a strike Thursday to allow union negotiators to call a walkout if it becomes necessary to enforce bargaining demands.

The union is negotiating with the Northwestern Illinois Contractors Association which has members in Boone, Carroll, De Kalb, Jo Daviess, Lee, Ogle, Stephenson, Whiteside and Winnebago counties.

Wage increases and work rule changes are at issue in the bargaining sessions which began before the old contract expired May 1.

The union has been on strike in 12 northeastern Illinois counties since April 11. The walkout has tied up $1 billion in road and heavy construction work.

In Chicago negotiators saw no end to the 26-day-old strike which has idled 4,500 heavy equipment operators, stopped about 85 per cent of home construction in the Chicago area and halted road work in the northeastern counties.
